

INSTRUCTIONAL RECREATION ACTIVITIES

The instructional recreational programs for children and adults provided by the Recreation and Senior Services Department will be conducted on the basis of being at least self-supporting. Registration fees will be based on an amount sufficient to acquire independent contractors, class materials and the administrative overhead and a facility use fee. Occasionally, it may be necessary to conduct a specific class in which revenues are not sufficient to be self-supporting. However, each total recreation program, such as tennis, sailing, surfing, etc., will be at least self-supporting. The Recreation and Senior Services Director or designee is authorized to enter into agreements for securing independent contractors for approved instructional recreation activities.

A sum of money equivalent to 10% of the gross annual revenues derived from the instructional classes in surfing shall be set aside and used for the purpose of purchasing new or replacement surfboards or development of aquatic and surf related activities.

A total of 20% of the registration fees from tennis instructional classes shall be set aside annually for refurbishment or development of courts or development of new recreational programs or facilities.

A total of 20% of the registration fees from the sailing instructional classes and 100% of the proceeds from the agreement for the use of the 29th Street public dock shall be set aside annually for refurbishment and replacement of the recreation sail boat fleet and development of waterfront activities program.
